School millage targets industry, businesses

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus School District began its effort to explain to the voters its September millage proposal Monday, as it revealed the funding plan will shift a greater responsibility for school costs to Romulus business and industry.

In its opening announcement last week the district stated that the overall 3 mill hike would actually result in a 2 mill reduction for homeowners.

In a prepared statement released by Art McPharlin, director of technology for the Romulus Community School District, the district board agrees "to hold a special school enhancement election on Sept. 20."

When the proposal is approved by the voters, McPharlin explains, it actually will reduce the school taxes for homeowners, while increasing taxes for commerce and industry.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell added "since industry and commerce received such a tremendous tax break when Proposal A was approved this spring, this new proposal shifts some of that tax burden from the homeowner to industry."

Bedell reminded residents "these funds cannot be used for salary increases or to hire new employees."

McPharlin continued "with this new revenue, the Board of Education will reduce property taxes on all homestead property by 5 mills. The net impact (including the three mill hike) on the property owner will be a 2 mill reduction on their property taxes."

The tax plan will save most homeowners $60 a year in taxes, McPharlin said, while producing $865,000 in additional revenue for the district.

McPharlin also vowed "to assure voters of the tax reduction, the board will pass a resolution on Aug. 22 stating the winter taxes will be reduced by a net 2 mills, when the enhancement millage is approved.

The board has directed the administration to eliminate the approximate $2.1 million school debt with the added revenue, McPharlin said.

The remaining new funds will be used for maintenance, vehicle purchases, technology training and added software, McPharlin said.

Last week the board voted 6-1 in favor of the millage plan. Only Trustee Debra Hoffman opposed the millage request language. Hoffman complained that words stating that the millage was to be used to eliminate the district deficit had been stricken from the ballot language and thus appeared less than forthright in communicating the needs of the district with the public.

While Hoffman was quoted accurately in last week's story in the Romulus Roman, when the "ballot language" was listed in the story it was inaccurately printed with the "deficit" phrase still in the copy.

The Romulus Roman apologizes for the confusion the phrase caused in the ballot language portion of the story.

Further information can be obtained by calling Bedell at the district office, 941-1600.

Dual fire lanes ignite neighborhood confrontation

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A four-party check to determine the need for dual-fire lane restrictions on the extremely narrow Irma, Joan and Hunt streets was authorized Monday night by the City Council.

The city had received signed petitions from residents of all three streets asking that one side of each street be opened for parking and fire lane limitations be kept on the side of the street the fire hydrants are located on.

Recently fire lane signs were posted on all three streets supposedly to help in medical or fire emergencies.

After statements were heard from both sides of the argument, Councilman Ellis Pennington urged the council to allow all four groups involved in the issue to meet with representatives of the administration of Mayor Beverly McNally and a recommendation be passed on to the council.

The four sides include the residents, the Police Department, the Fire Department and the U.S. Post Office.

Rose Raspberry, daughter of Councilman Jimmie Raspberry spoke out in favor of keeping the newly instituted fire lane restrictions on both sides of the streets, because they were so narrow that it made it difficult for emergency vehicles (ambulances and fire apparatuses) to easily travel to a local home for health reasons.

Others complained that if two motorists (traveling opposite ways) stop to talk on the street, a bicycle couldn't get by. Still others complained about the difficulty in being able to back their vehicles out of their driveways, when cars are parked on the streets.

Fashion Blue, an Irma Street resident who circulated the petitions, complained she didn't think it was fair not to be able to park on either side of the street, because of combined fire lane limitations.

She complained that the new fire lane signs were erected after Raspberry one day didn't get her mail because of the travel problems in the area. Raspberry denied the allegation.

The petitions state "we the undersigned residents of ---- Street do hereby petition the mayor and city council of the City of Romulus to exercise their authority by eliminating the Fire Lane Signs on one side of Irma, Joan and Hunt streets and leaving them on the hydrant side.

"The residents are aware of the importance of accessibility by the Fire Department and feel there will be adequate room for fire equipment to travel down the street," the petitions conclude.

Some residents complained that having parking restrictions on both sides of the street hampered residents if they had guests because of a funeral or graduation party.

Raspberry said in such cases the local resident could petition the Fire Department and have such restrictions lifted for the time period needed to fill the family's needs.

Council members Raspberry and Mary Ann Banks were absent from the meeting.

Century old house to be moved

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

A pending agreement between Romulus, Metro Airport authorities and the Federal Aviation Administration will lead to the moving of the historic Peter Bird House to the Romulus Historic Park area.

Community Development Director Jane Downing said the three groups are willing to use funds they normally would have used to demolish the old brick home to instead move it, probably next spring.

"What makes this home so unique," Downing said, "is that it is constructed of double masonry and will have to be moved intact."

Only a few moving companies in the Midwest are qualified to make such a transfer, Downing said.

The Romulus Historical Society plans to renovate the 19th century home once it is switched to its new location.

Incumbent scores big win

Incumbent 22nd District State Representative Gregory Pitoniak (D-Taylor) easily won the Democratic nomination last Tuesday, defeating his two-time challenger Catalina Hall of Romulus.

Pitoniak, who lost the Romulus half of the 22nd District vote to Hall in 1992, won handily in 15 of the 17 Romulus precincts last week, as well as the absentee vote. He earned reelection in 1992 by heavily defeating Hall in his native Taylor.

Last week Hall captured the 2nd and 3rd Precincts by votes of 63-53 and 45-32, but trailed Pitoniak in all others. The Romulus absentee ballot vote was 182 for Pitoniak and 51 for Hall.

Hall, a strong women's rights activist, stated prior to the election that one of the reasons she was running a second time was "to encourage other women to enter the political wars."

Pitoniak meanwhile cited his commitment to Romulus, saying he trailed in Romulus in 1992 because his district had just been re-designed months before his campaign.

In Romulus, Pitoniak earned 1,019 votes to Hall's 560. That vote total encouraged Pitoniak to declare on Wednesday morning, "I now feel like part of the community of Romulus."

Pitoniak also scored heavily in his native city of Taylor, besting Hall by a vote of 2,733-608.

Pitoniak will face Joseph D. Slaven (R-Taylor) this November.

Prevention program is planned

Chemical dependency is the number one health problem in our country today and Parent to Parent for Prevention wants to stop the cycle by providing a training manual to help adults understand the role they play in this insidious cycle, according to Parent to Parent representatives.

The primary goal of the manual is to make parents aware of how much they need to educate themselves within a group of their peers.

"We need to band together -- to learn how we, as a group, can make rules, set limits, and use age appropriate consequences for the benefit of youngsters," according to Parent to Parent representatives.

The $35 manual helps parents take a look at the mixed messages they send their children about chemical use. It also gives parents permission to take control without guilt or blame.

Parents learn how to form support groups within their child's school and how to educate other parents through the use of the manual. Parent to Parent also offers a free one day training session for any group who purchases one hundred manuals.

For a manual or for more information, write to Parent to Parent for Prevention, 8137 August Street, Westland, Michigan 48185 or call (313)421-1128.

Thief is sentenced

A 30-year-old transient man, who pleaded guilty to the attempted theft of an elderly Westland woman's purse, was sentenced to two years probation before Detroit Recorder's Judge Vera Massey Jones.

Dennis Paul Chapman, entered the guilty plea to charges of assault with intent to rob while unarmed, which carries a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison.

Chapman was charged after Westland police officers outsmarted him, according to Westland police Sgt. Donald Haigh.

"I figured out who it was and had him arrested. After the second polygraph test, we got him to confess to being there and having a confrontation with the lady," Haigh said.

According to police, the 68-year-old woman was approached by the assailant around 4:30 p.m. March 29 as she entered her car in the Target Store parking lot at 35401 Warren Road in Westland.

The woman was inside her car and in the process of shutting the driver's side door when the perpetrator approached and yelled for her to give up her purse, Haigh said.

Originally Chapman did not admit to the attempted robbery, Haigh said, but did say the woman bumped him.

Driver faces charges in death of man

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

By LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

Charged with drinking while driving in the death of 86-year-old Stanley Pitera of Westland, a Detroit man has been scheduled for a Detroit Recorder's Court jury trial on charges of operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol (OUIL) causing death and leaving the scene of an injury accident.

Thomas William Skudlarek, a 29-year-old whose trial is slated to begin Nov. 28, was released on a $5,000 personal bond. The defendant faces a maximum sentence of up to 15 years in prison and/or a $2,500 fine to $10,000 fine on the OUIL charge and up to five years in prison and/or a $5,000 fine for leaving the scene.

The accident occurred around 8:45 a.m. March 11 when the allegedly intoxicated driver sideswiped the elderly man at the intersection of Wayne and Hunter roads, according to testimony heard in Westland 18th District Court. The defendant allegedly left the scene and the victim died as a result of the collision.

According to a 19-year-old witness, the driver of a maroon and gray van attempted to brake before striking the light-colored Tempo in the area of the gas tank, but to no avail.

"The car was turning into the parking lot of Big Boy's restaurant," said the waitress. "After I heard the crash, I started heading toward the car because the old man looked hurt."

"I could see a large van from the street," said Westland police officer Thomas Hisong, "and I later saw front-end damage on the vehicle."

Officers interviewed several individuals at the residence before issuing a warrant for Skudlarek's arrest an hour after the accident. When officers transported the defendant back to the Westland Police Department, two blood-alcohol tests were given, registering .24 and .22, according to testimony.

As the prosecuting attorney and Westland Police Department worked to build a case against Skudlarek, doctors worked to decrease the swelling around Pitera's brain. The victim died March 15, as a result of the collision, testified Dr. Laney Davidson of Garden City Hospital.

The financial aid donated by the local veterans will be used to purchase several U.S. Savings Bonds for presentation to Romulus students during the school year.

The Romulus School District accepted Superintendent Dr. William Bedell's recommendation Monday night and voted to allow local 10th-12th grade students attending out of district schools to continue until they graduate.

The procedure began when the Romulus District was an out-of-formula district and impacts about 60 or more students.

Wayne Road paving slated

A resurfacing of the pothole filled, heavily used Wayne Road area near Romulus City Hall moved a step closer Monday night, as the City Council approved its share of the blacktop project.

Mayor Beverly McAnally reported that the city's portion of the 1.38 mile project from Goddard to Grant roads will cost $44,160. McAnally expressed hopes that the road project will begin this fall.

The mayor said the beginning of this project could delay some other unspecified road projects this fall.

Non-stop flights to Mexico begin

Four hour nonstop flights to Mexico City from Detroit Metropolitan Airport will begin Oct. 1, Northwest Airlines Vice President Don Washburn revealed.

Northwest is planning on using 150-seat jets for the Mexico City-Romulus routes. The jets will leave Romulus at 9:10 a.m. and reach Mexico City at 11:40 a.m. daily.

Spurred on by the growing trade ventures between Michigan and Mexico, Washburn said, the daily round trip flights will cost in the range of $551 to $667, depending on advance notice, availability and length of stay.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara revealed only two states, California and Texas, have more goods exchanged with Mexico today than Michigan. McNamara said businesses outside Michigan will be encouraged to locate inside the state to take advantage of the daily Mexico City flights.

"Mexico is America's fastest growing trade partner," McNamara said, "and we expect to see job expansion in the Metro Airport area as it is estimated that 19.4 jobs are created for every $1 million of goods exported."

McNamara bragged that Metro Airport is now the 10th busiest U.S. airport in terms of passengers, superseding Minneapolis and Boston. "The airport generates over $7 million daily for the Metro area economy," McNamara stated, and Northwest Airlines recently increased daily jet departures from 300 to 350 flights.

In the past year and a half, McNamara said, Northwest has also added 17 domestic designations from Metro Airport, making the local airport "Northwest's largest hub."

Mexico City will now become Metro's 11th international destination. It already sends flights to locations such as Paris, Frankfurt, Tokyo, Toronto and Montreal.

Fucundo Bravo, chairman of the Michigan Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, said that more Hispanic tourists also are expected to take advantage of the daily flights.

The victim was transported to Heritage Hospital in Taylor and then was flown to the University of Michigan Hospital, where she died at 7:40 p.m. Sunday.

The Tennessee driver was injured slightly and treated at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. Taylor police said the hunt is still on for the hit-and-run motorist.

Judge Felix Rogalle

Tina Brooks Green

Rogalle faces Green
in November balloting

Incumbent 34th District Chief Judge Felix Rogalle survived a Romulus family's campaign against him last week in the primary election and will face Tina Brooks Green in a runoff for the judicial post this November.

Rogalle outpolled his opponents in Romulus, as well as three of the other four district communities last Tuesday. He tied Green in the Huron vote with 437 votes.

In Romulus, Rogalle gathered 796 votes compared to Green's 539 votes. The other two candidates, Josephine Chapman and Mark Maironis earned 324 and 298 votes, respectively in the city.

Green of Huron Township is a former assistant Wayne County prosecutor-juvenile division, ex-state attorney general and is now in private practice.

Rogalle also topped Green in three of the other four communities. The unofficial tallies were in Van Buren, Rogalle 783, Green, 577; in Belleville, Rogalle, 145 to Green's 106; in Sumpter, Rogalle 358 to Green's 323, and in Huron, Rogalle and Green both gained 437 votes.

In Romulus, forces supporting the family of the late Earl Wayne Plank passed out anti-Rogalle written flyers the weekend before the election urging city residents to vote against Rogalle.

The flyer that was passed out to voters cited Plank's traffic death at Wayne and Goddard roads on May 7, 1994 and declared "never again would Earl's family see him, never again would his mother hear his voice as he sang to her, never again will the sound of laughter by his nieces and nephews be heard playing on the living room floor with him."

The campaign against Rogalle complained the judge lowered the charges against the driver, who allegedly drove his car into Plank's truck, from vehicular manslaughter to negligent homicide.

The anti-Rogalle forces asked for voters who want peace to fight for justice. And "in memory of Earl Wayne Plank to vote against Rogalle" on Election Day Aug. 2, 1994.

It is not known at this time whether the anti-Rogalle campaign will continue until the general election on Nov. 8.

projects this fall.

Patrick A. Hogan, deputy director of operations for Wayne County, informed City Department of Public Works Director James Panos that the county already was planning to resurface Goddard Road and extension, between Middlebelt and Wayne roads this construction season.

Hogan explained that "in view of the fact that this roadway was used as a detour route during the I-94/Merriman/Middlebelt interchanges projects, this is no requirement that the city of Romulus share in the cost of the project."

But Hogan said that a county review of the adjoining Wayne Road project "has caused us to consider extending the Goddard Road project southerly along Wayne Road through the Grant Road intersection."

Hogan said the total cost of the project will be $132,480, with the city paying about one third of that cost. He urged that the city forward a check for half of the city's cost, $22,080, as soon as possible so that the project can be completed this fall. The council approved that action Monday night.

$1.3 million shortfall
Budget cuts, millage vote possible

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

In the wake of a $1.3 million shortfall in funding, Wayne-Westland Superintendent of Schools Larry Thomas presented possible budget cuts and advised the board to conduct a millage campaign in the fall or make some transportation cuts.

"The last time this happened, we came to you and begged and pleaded. We will not do that this time. We ask that you treat the employees with dignity and respect," transportation worker Denise Thomas said.

"I hope you, at least, give these employees some input before the Aug. 22 date. Don't let us read in the paper that we have lost our jobs. Last year a lot of undo confusion created a lot of undo hardship," she added.

Trustee Francis Winter assured the bus driver that board members have not made a decision about cutbacks.

"I implore employees to be calm ... while we address this very sensitive issue," Winter said.

Superintendent Thomas presented three proposals to the board, which will be considered and possibly amended prior to the board's expected approval of a proposal on Aug. 22.

These three proposals will be discussed during a board study session Aug. 15:

- Option 1: The elimination of all non-mandatory transportation, saving the district $1.5 million.

- Option 2: Elimination of secondary transportation, adult education evening programs, secondary parking lot security and reduction of building supplies purchases. This measure would save the district $1.3 million.

- Option 3: Cutting the administrative positions of supervisor of community education, supervisor of information services and curriculum director, a cost savings of $170,000; eliminating the adult education evening program at a savings of $140,000; eliminating parking lot security, vocational education teaching assistants, reducing the building supplies budget and reducing transportation would save the schools a total of $400,000; reduction of Public Act 25 funds, used for school improvements, by $50,000; elimination of elementary library

... over the years we've cut through the fat, cut through the bone - now we're down to the marrow. We are in a crisis situation.

- Matthew McCusker

clerks, saving $150,000; eliminating four administrative secretarial positions including 1.5 positions in central office, a half-time position in special education, one employee services position and one business services secretary; eliminating the $60,000 vocational education matching grant, in which the state matches the amount the district spends on equipment; and some $178,000 in undetermined cuts would also need to be made.

All three proposals have a millage option which asks that the board conduct an Oct. 17 millage election for an enhanced millage of $2 million in revenues over a two-year period. Citizens will be made aware that if the millage fails, the proposed cuts would be enacted at the end of the school day Oct. 21.

"How can we tell people we're giving them a choice and not blackmailing them," Board Secretary Vicky Welty asked.

Some board members favored transportation reductions over other budget cuts.

"Transportation is less harmful to the students than any other cut. I think transportation is more logical (to cut) before instruction programs," Board Treasurer Patricia Brown said.

"I can't in good conscious support option three. I refuse to cut any more instruction from the budget," Trustee Debra Fowlkes said. "I support option one. Adult education is very important in this community and I don't think ... we need to cut security."

However, others wanted more than just the three available options.

"It looks to me one group is bearing the brunt of all the cuts. I'd like to see it more evenly distributed," Welty said.

"We've made commitments ... to the Cherry Hill district. I will not support 100 percent elimination of transportation," Board Vice President Richard LeBlanc said.

"I think there may be some methods to be created," Board President Mathew McCusker said. "... over the years we've cut through the fat, cut through the bone - now we're down to the marrow. We are in a crisis situation."

Thomas said he based his recommendations for transportation cuts on the administrative cabinet's unanimous support of the measure.

"It does not erode our instruction. Transportation effects 30 percent of the students (5,000 of 60,000). It has the least impact for the majority of students," Thomas said, adding, "The disadvantage is that a number of people will be upset, there will be an increase in traffic problems and it will be difficult for some to get to school."

"I don't think a millage would be able to pass if it only effects 30 percent of the students," Winter said. "Voters have consistently voted 'no' the last two millages. To punish these kids to have to come to school is not realistic."

LeBlanc agreed adding a millage would not likely pass with only 18 percent of the district's residents having school age children.

Although Thomas said it was possible the district could receive more money if the fourth Friday pupil count was higher than 1,550 students, he added that if the count is less, the district will lose state funding.

"I would guess we'll not have a windfall of money coming from anywhere," District Chief Fiscal Officer Patricia Brand said.

With a fund balance of less than $3,000, board members were aware of the possible shortage of funds when they approved the 1994-95 budget in early July. The first budget drafted under the new state finance reform bill left the district with a fund balance of $2,965, which was millions less than the 1993-94 starting fund balance of $6,762,382.

The state funding was based on the past two year average of revenues.

"The state based their calculations on a set of information, which by law, we had to approve July 1.

Sex offender hunt grows

Following the report of the July 30 abduction and sexual assault of two youths in Edward Hines Park, Westland police have issued a police sketch of the alleged assailant.

The reported sexual assaults of two 11-year-old boys occurred around 4 p.m. when the youths were walking through the park, according to Westland police Sgt. Laura Moore.

The two boys, one a Westland resident, were grabbed by a stranger who threatened to kill them if they did not do what they were told, Moore said.

The perpetrator then took the boys to a secluded area of the park behind River Bend Apartment complex, located at 30500 Warren Road in Westland, and a nearby shopping center.

According to Moore, there the abductor performed oral sex acts on the two and made them perform oral sex on him.

The offender also, "made them (boys) perform sexual acts on each other," and made digital penetration of both youths, Moore said.

During the assault, the assailant was scared off by a passer-by, Moore said. The suspect is described as a 5-foot, 7-inch to 5-foot, 9-inch tall white male in his late 30s with a heavy build, dark wavy hair and a mustache.

Romulus school suit gains no help

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Community School District had been informed that the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) will not represent district students and parents in its battle to gain "at risk" funds from the state of Michigan.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell had sought ACLU assistance in its battle to gain some of the $230 million now being proposed for the 1994-95 state aid bill.

Bedell cited the fact that Romulus has a large concentration of "at risk" children, but that the current state aid bill plan "denies funding to poor and 'at risk' children, who ... denies funding to poor and 'at risk' children ...

happen to reside in formerly out-of-formula school districts."

Romulus School District is one of such out-of-formula districts.

Bedell cited the fact that the new state aid plan "is unfair" and has "destroyed all of the advantages of having a large local tax base."

Without any change in the pending state aid bill, the local school district "will be forced to make program reductions and hold the line in contract negotiations," Bedell stated.

Bedell was hoping that the ACLU would assist the district in the battle with the state education unit because he claimed the proposed plan also "hurts a large concentration of Afro-American students also."

"Romulus and River Rouge will receive none of these new educational funds, while they have a minority percentage of 42 percent and 38 percent minority populations," Bedell said.

The superintendent said he was not sure what the next step for the Romulus School District would be on this issue.

Good ol' days

Former township employees renew friendships with monthly gatherings

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

On the third Tuesday of each month, former Van Buren Township employees and elected officials meet to renew their friendships and reminisce about the "good old days."

Some are retirees and others are "victims" of changing administrations during the past four decades.

Former receptionist Imogene Pence, and her husband, Arthur, traveled from Florida and Dorothy Miles drove from Caro, Mich., to attend the gathering and to visit with friends and family members in the area.

Still "misbehaving" was Miles, who is remembered as the woman who roller skated in township hall singing, I've Got a Brand New Pair of Roller Skates. To illustrate that she hasn't lost her singing voice and her clowning ability, she placed a pair of round earrings in front of her eyes - Orphan Annie-style - and belted out a few lines of Tomorrow.

Miles was also remembered as the employee who did crossword puzzles on the job.

"(Supervisor) G. Elton Gollwitzer always came to my defense if anyone said anything," Miles noted. "He told them that I always got my work done before I did the puzzles."

Miles, a former building and water department employee who claims to have "run the department" and told Price what to do, reminded her friends to refer to her by her full name - Dorothy Ann Jadatz McInnis Miles.

"This is a place that old political enemies can become friends," said Miles.

"I don't know about that. I didn't think I had any enemies," said former supervisor R. Lynne Hamilton.

Connie Krebs, a former water department worker and election clerk, was the official Mystery Trip Lady for her co-workers.

"I always planned some place to go for lunch. One time, I had my mother fix breakfast for everyone and we went to her house. She didn't want to be paid for breakfast, but I thought it would be fair to charge $2 each," Krebs said. Stan Price, who was accompanied by his wife Sally, began working in the old township hall - where the Enterprise and Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce offices are located now - in 1963 and retired in 1986.

He recalled making his inspections in a police car, which was the only vehicle owned by the township.

"The water department, which was established in 1968, was the biggest department. We started working in the basement of the old township hall," Price said. "I enjoyed working for the township. It was a good job and there were a lot of good people."

"We were like one family," said Pat Gors, a former ordinance supervisor.

"A lot of different families," added Price, noting that he worked under seven supervisors.

Among the guests were Mildred Delaney, former water department manager, and her husband Jack, who "came along for the ride;" former deputy treasurer Gabrielle Mussehl; former township clerk Doreen Craven; former building department head and police officer Darryl Robson; former water department employee Gladys Baldwin and former supervisor R. Lynne Hamilton.

When quizzed about the primary election, the 17 breakfast guests were not too enthusiastic.

"What election?" quipped Ruth Bleeker, a former supervisor's secretary. "It's not as exciting today as the past elections. Nothing is as good as before."

"There's too much apathy," said Miles.

"The cost of running for office is too high today," added Baldwin.

"We seem to have the same problems. The same issues come and go," said Bleeker.

Volunteers join White Cane drive

Members of the Belleville Area Lions Club were joined by community volunteers in its annual drive to collect donations for the blind and needy.

Due to the generosity of the community, $6,000 was collected, according to Tamara Gage, White Cane Drive chairman.

Unlike some other donations, 100 percent of the money collected goes to help the blind and needy, Gage said.

"The Belleville Area Lion's focus is for the people in Van Buren Township, Belleville and Sumpter Township," she said. "Many times the Lions Club is called upon by school officials to help a child whose family is unable to provide a pair of glasses. We also assist individuals in our community who have been afflicted by blindness and are unable to obtain tools for the visually impaired."

Gage noted that the Lions also have assisted people who are coping with serious illnesses.

"In 1993, the Belleville Area Lions were asked to assist in the purchase of an artificial leg for a four-year-old girl. The insurance company would not purchase the leg because the child would eventually outgrow it. Due to the generosity of donors in the community, the Lions were able to provide this child with the opportunity to walk," Gage said. "Not all funds are spent on hardships, during the past years the Lions have supported the Belleville Area Little League, Easter Bunny, Music in Victory Park, etc."

A small portion of the money collected goes to the Leader Dog School and the Penrickton Center, a boarding school for children with multiple disabilities including blindness.

Financial contributions were made by Red Roof Inn, J.B.'s Place, Michigan Mini Roses, Brewer Biding, McKelvey and Associates, Detroit Edison, Craftmaster, Deborah Whyman, Johnson's Auto Parts, Burhop Collision, Main Street Flowers, Lodge Lanes, New Lawn Sod Farm, State Farm, Kirkridge, Charles Boelter, Bruce Patterson, Barbara Rogalle Miller, Belleville Shell, Brown Funeral Home, Blade Welding Service, Domino's Pizza, Belleville Moose, Benito's Pizza, National Bank of Detroit and Felix Rogalle.

City takes business group 'under wing'

Formed under the auspices of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce (BACC), the Belleville Central Business Community (CBC) has severed ties with the chamber in favor of alignment with the city.

Chairperson Ellen Moore proposed the split, and discussed the issue with BACC President Gerald McKelvey, who offered the cooperation of the chamber in future CBC endeavors.

The move became official on July 18 when the city adopted a resolution to create the new CBC.

"The Belleville CBC is hereby established for the purpose of developing, encouraging, promoting and protecting the commercial, professional, individual, financial and general business interests of the CBC," the resolution said, adding, "The CBC shall have the same authority as it had as the Belleville Area Central Business Community, including but not limited to electing a board of directors, holding official business meetings, appointing officers to advise and report to city council and to promulgate rules, policies and procedures for its operation."

The resolution also stated that:

- The CBC shall be funded from the public, Friends of the Committee and proceeds from fund-raising activities.

- That any funds received after the date of the resolution shall be deposited into a special account to be set up by the city and that no funds may be dispersed without approval of the city council.

- The CBC shall prepare and submit to city council a current profit and loss statement and balance sheet disclosing all assets and liabilities.

- Annually, the CBC shall prepare and present an outline of its proposed activities for the ensuing year together with a budget for the year to city council for its approval.

The Belleville Area Music Committee will remain a chamber-sponsored entity.

Garden party success chases away raindrops

Some 70 guests were present last Thursday to support the work of the Belleville Area Council for the Arts (BACA) at the third annual BACA Garden Party benefit.

The elegant affair, which was staged on the terraced gardens of BACA President Chesley Odom, featured classical music by the Premiere Ensemble of strings from the Michigan Opera Theater.

"I really enjoy the Garden Party, because I think it's the focal point for the Belleville Area Council for the Arts," said Donald Juchartz, a party guest. "It's the culmination of a lot of effort to help the community enlarge its horizons and enrich its culture. That they are willing to go to all the work speaks well for them and for the community. I look forward to the council doing greater and greater things in the community in the future."

Juchartz, known as the Plant Doctor because of his horticultural expertise, talked about the activities of the council during his WJR radio broadcast on the day of the event.

Party-goers were shielded from the last few raindrops of the day by a large tent set up at the lake side garden. Donations of exotic cut flowers by Main Street Flowers of Belleville and Westborn Fruit Market of Dearborn added to the display of blooms flourishing in the terraced gardens.

A silent auction of original art works brought in an additional $380, which will allow the council to buy a $250 mat cutter for the Belleville High School art department.

Sandy and Ken Askew, who co-chaired the council committee for the spring student art show, said the mat cutter is important for the students so that they can display their art works in a more professional manner.

The auction at the Garden Party was put together by the Askews, whose display added an enjoyable facet to the party activities.

Sandy Askew gathered contributions from fellow artists throughout Michigan, Illinois and Ontario, and also donated some of her own work. Local artists Diane Essinger and 34th District Court Judge Felix Rogalle also contributed original work for the auction.

Winning bidders for art pieces were Bruce Patterson, Mary Herring, Starr Burke, Christine Tator, Virginia

Odom, Dr. Richard Muse and his wife, Janet, C. Jenkins and John Pomann.

A somber note during the festivities came when a moment of silence and prayers were offered in memory of the late Sharlene Tator, who worked very diligently on the 1993 Garden Party and was an enthusiastic member of the BACA from its inception.

Park use increases woes

With an increase in usage of Victory Park, parking is becoming a growing concern.

Free concerts on Sunday afternoons plus picnics and gatherings in the park have put parking at a premium in the area adjacent to the park, and has prompted city officials to inquire about additional parking on Liberty Street.

Engineer Ken Arnold reported that plans to put angle parking on Liberty Street may run into a detour.

"Liberty is designated as a major road and receives Act 41 monies," said Arnold. "With restrictions as a major road, there are strings attached. The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) won't allow parking on it."

Arnold added that it would be possible to set up angle parking with a 24-foot lane as a buffer between the street and parking area.

Some councilmen suggested that the street become a local one instead of a major street.

"First, let's find out the cost to do this," said Mayor Glenn Silvenius, noting that the council would need to know how much Act 51 monies it would lose by re-classifying the street before taking any action.

Opinion

Reality check, please

Frankly, we're worried.

Really worried. For many, many years, ever since he was a reporter on staff here, we have held Dick McKnight in high regard. We've always thought he was a fine person and we have admired him and his judgment. But after this week, we have some serious concerns about our old friend.

Mr. McKnight, in his capacity as chairman of the 13th Congressional District Democratic Party, filed one of the most ridiculous and foolish charges we've seen in many a year with the state office of campaign finance claiming that Republican candidate for state senator Loren Bennett violated campaign finance law by failing to report in-kind contributions.

This charge is one of the most ludicrous we've seen in a long, long time. We happen to have first-hand knowledge of the foolishness and lack of basis for this charge as we are cited in Mr. McKnight's complaint as the contributors in question.

What he has chosen to complain about was the inability of the Democratic party to censor, control and edit this newspaper. First, retiring Democratic State Senator William Faust phoned us to complain that Canton Township Clerk Loren Bennett was writing a column which was published in The Canton Eagle. We explained, gently and professionally, that perhaps Mr. Faust didn't understand the situation. Mr. Bennett was not campaigning in his column, had not officially declared his candidacy for any other office and was well within the established time frame for providing the column to us.

And, we explained, even if all that were not the case, the Democrats didn't even have a candidate. If they did, we'd offer them the same opportunity. We suggested the senator write a column—he too, is a former newspaperman, but he declined. Then of course, there is the little old First Amendment to be considered—but we didn't want to get too technical.

The senator appeared to understand and we thought the issue was settled.

Then, we got a call from Mr. McKnight. He expounded on the same issue. We explained again—Mr. Bennett was writing in his official capacity as the Canton Township clerk, and hadn't officially even declared his candidacy for the state seat. We told Mr. McKnight that since the Democrats didn't have a candidate, he could even write a column on their behalf if he so wished. He said he understood and as a former reporter who had faced the same type of criticism in the late '60s, would pass the explanation along.

What balderdash and what an obvious and desperate ploy for attention and publicity. He has chosen to disregard our rights and is attempting to make this newspaper the center of a political controversy.

Mr. McKnight knows better—and we refuse to believe that Charles "Trav" Griffin, the successful Democratic primary candidate, knew anything about this petty, mean-spirited foolishness. We don't know where this silliness originated but we do want it stopped.

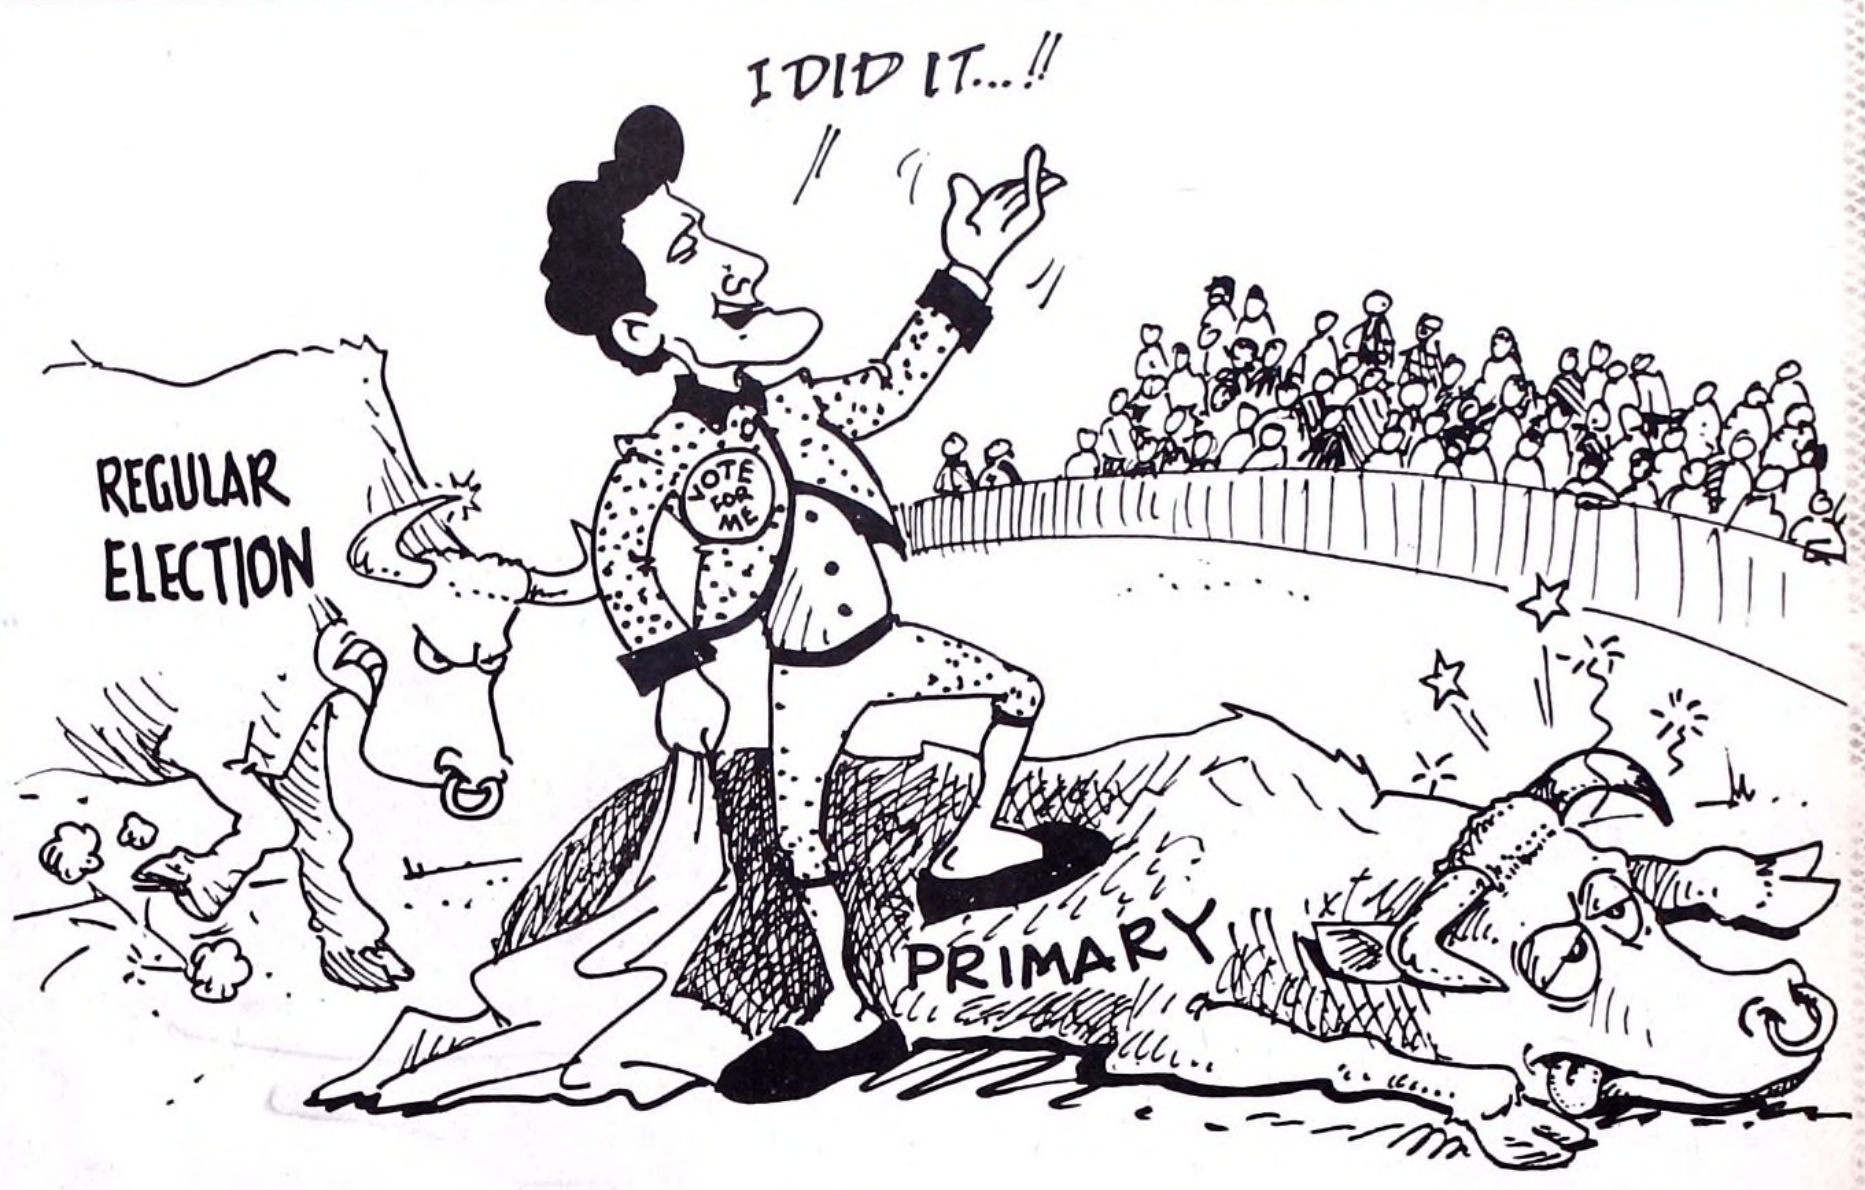

We want it stopped because it will hinder the chances of both Mr. Griffin and Mr. Bennett to concentrate on the issues and to campaign on their own political records and qualifications.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Griffin are both fine men. We know them both very well and have only the utmost regard for both of them. We would solidly endorse their election to this office—unless we felt one of them was controlled or influenced by a political party that would stoop to these tactics and this type of slander and mudslinging.

And we will go on record once again, publicly. No individual or political party, no special interest group or business, will ever dictate the editorial content of this newspaper. Never. We will continue to do our job within the best of our ability relying on the news judgment of those charged with that professional responsibility.

Mr. McKnight, and the Democrats owe the voters, Mr. Bennett, and this newspaper an apology. Their failure to recognize our rights under the First Amendment of the Constitution is a shameful testament to their narrow thinking and parochial interests.

Their failure to do so could cost a fine man his chance to serve as a senator. Unless of course this is really a Republican ploy to be sure the Democrats couldn't get God elected.

Governor's actions prompt criticism

To the editor:

Governor Engler's latest power grab must be challenged! Soon he will control the language of all ballot proposals - before anybody else's input. Up until now the State Board of Canvassers - two Democrats and two Republicans, as required by the state constitution - has held this responsibility. Now Engler has transferred this duty to the State Administrative Board, which he controls. Beginning in September, he will have the power to manipulate the language of any ballot proposal to his liking.

I shudder to think how biased upcoming ballot proposal language will be without the traditional checks and balances provided by a bipartisan board of canvassers. Gone will be the necessity for compromise which now exists. Gone will be any semblance of fairness and impartiality in ballot proposal language.

Why am I not surprised? This latest power grab fits John Engler's gubernatorial style-government by executive fiat.

I shudder to think.

Senator's endorsement blasted

To the editor:

Allow me to clear the air relative to Senator William Faust endorsing a non-Westland candidate in the Democratic 8th District primary. He is mad, it's as plain as that.

When Bill Faust decided to retire, he gave the nod for the job to his best friend, Patrick Norton. Mr. Norton, knowing he could not win the race against Councilman Charles "Trav" Griffin, decided to withdraw his name. That's politics I guess.

Mr. Faust, remember, we the people will decide who our elected officials will be. This state's senate is not a monarchy for you or anyone else to pre-ordain who will serve. What troubles me most is the person you support. Trav Griffin's opponent is the man who brought the toxic waste dump to Huron Township that burned out of control not so long ago. He's the same guy that is trying to pass another millage in his own community, in this very election, in an effort to keep his police department staffed. No wonder he wants out of town.

LETTERS

As for me, I'll vote for the man that was responsible for bringing enhanced 911 service to western Wayne County over the toxic waste dump guy any day. I'm voting for Trav Griffin. If you weren't so mad, you would too.

National politics criticized

To the editor:

Another celebration of our nation's birthday has passed. How did we celebrate it? Some of us went to Fourth of July parades. Some of us went to the beach. Some of us used the occasion to have family gatherings. Were the churches open? Did we get down on our knees and thank God for our freedoms and prosperity? Did we visit the cemeteries of our loved ones who gave their last full measure of devotion in the defense of our country? It has been said that a people that forgets its roots and heroes will wind up in the ash bin of history. A recent poll indicated that Americans have lost their sense of patriotism. Have we, as a people, forgotten our heritage? Are we really dedicated to preserving our nationhood? Let us examine the forces of internationalism that threaten our nationhood!

In WWI our government got us into the conflict between the German Kaiser (king) and the British. We were going to make the "world safe for democracy." Why did our government want to "make the world safe for democracy?" Our form of government is a limited Constitutional Republic. We have a "Bill of Rights" which is supposed to limit what the national government can do. Twenty years later storm clouds gathered over Europe again. Our government involved us once again in an international conflict. Once again, the conflict was between Germany and England (traditional enemies.) George Washington (in his farewell address) warned us to stay out of European conflicts. Have we listened? I would have to say that succeeding generations of Americans have not done a very good job!

Since the end of WW II, our government has involved us in a United Nations police action in Korea, a war in Vietnam, a war in Iraq, and a "peace" action in Somalia. Always, we were told that only the United States could solve "other people's" problems. Why should our sons/daughters fight to save other governments which are more corrupt than our own? Let us look at some ominous developments which are more corrupt than our own? Let us look at some ominous developments which are occurring right now involving our government. Bush went to the UN to get authorization to invade Iraq. Bush went to the UN to authorize our involvement in Somalia. These actions should arouse our ire! Clinton pushed the "Brady Bill" to institute a "five-day waiting period before the purchase of a handgun. Clinton led the assault on banning hunting rifles which "Handgun Control, Inc." designated as "assault rifles." Now Clinton is pushing universal health care which guarantees that the elderly will not get any. It is time to say no to government violations of the 10th amendment. It is time for patriotic Americans to take back their country. The price of liberty is eternal vigilance. Let us wake up.

Political games criticized

To the editor:

It saddens me to once again see the same old political games being played in Westland. Even worse than political gamesmanship as usual, is that retiring State Senator Bill Faust has entered the fray.

Faust, upset that Trav Griffin wouldn't stay out of the race to favor longtime Faust friend, Pat Norton, has lashed out at Griffin by supporting his opponent.

I find it revolting that Faust would support a candidate that can't even keep his own community's finances in order, needing to pass an additional millage to keep his police officers on the street.

As a long time supporter of Bill Faust, and lately that hasn't been easy, I am appalled at his actions. My friends are right, it was time for Faust to step down.

Michael Andrzejewski

Editor's note: The 3 mill public safety millage approved by the voters in the primary replaces a 2-mill levy which expired this year in Van Buren Township.

Buren police officer who has been on the force for over eight years and who is already classified "full time".

I must admit, I am more confused now than ever. I guess I never realized in the many years I've lived in this township how politics can play such head games. Our police department is used only as a stepping stone. Our township officials would rather spend our tax dollars to send our reserves to the police academy, than have a complete full-time force. After these officers graduate and become certified, they move on to other full-time departments such as Belleville, Sumpter, Canton and Brownstown. These departments are more than happy to hire a certified officer that another department has sent to school.

Currently our part-time officers will be in a bind no matter which way this proposal goes. If it fails, they will be laid-off immediately. If it passes, only six or seven officers will be hired on as full time. These officers will come from various divisions, such as the detective bureau. The officers who are now on the street patrol will then be cut back to 20 hours and more reserves will be hired to fill the void.

If these individuals choose law enforcement as a career and they choose our township in which to work, then why are they being chased away. Unemployment - VS - 20 hours, either way stinks! If a person is single, they sure can't think of getting married, let alone take on a mortgage. If a person is married, they can't pay the utilities, let alone the mortgage.

I feel as our township is growing, so too should our police department - to a complete full-time department. If these individuals are willing to risk their lives for our safety, do we re-pay them by putting them on such small hours, at $9 an hour and no benefits? Lord knows, in today's society, police officers should be on full time, with decent wages and benefits. I know speaking for myself, I sure wouldn't want their job.

There is an old saying, "if you snooze, you lose". While our township officials are snoozing, we the taxpayers are losing - losing good, hard working, dedicated police officers.

Canton has top gun in 35th golf championships

Walker has the winning golf touch

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKE
ANP Staff Writer

Brenda Walker won the inaugural City Golf Championship in 1992. But the champ missed an opportunity to defend her golf title a year ago because of other commitments.

On Saturday, Walker showed up for the summer classic and shot a 99 to take the lead that she never relinquished. She claimed her second title in three years, winning by five strokes (202) over her closest challenger Kathy Stellema, who finished with the runners-up trophy. Virgie Sexton came in third at Fellows Creek.

The two-day tournament, played under ideal golfing conditions - sunny both days with the temperatures in the mid-70s - was open up to women for the first time in 1991. And Walker was among the first to enter. "It's good competition, but I would like to see more women enter this," Walker said as she settled down in a clubhouse chair after she learned that she won it.

The victory, however, had side effects - the champ felt that her game wasn't up to par. "Don't misunderstand me," Walker said, "I am very happy to win. But I felt that I could have played much better than I did. I don't think my game was up to par."

Walker, who took up golf 10 years ago, is looking forward to the 1995 championships. "This is a wonderful tournament for both men and women to play in and improve their tournament skills," she said. "We're starting to get more women in this, but we'd definitely like to see a bigger turnout a year from now."

Her colleagues agreed.

Klimczak's patience pays off with win

On a weekend made for golf, Craig Klimczak stepped out of the shadows of five-time tournament winner Kevin Ryan and challenger Mark Morton to capture top honors at the 35th annual City Golf Championships. It was the first time in six attempts that Klimczak has won the overall championship. And he had to beat his head coach to do so. Klimczak serves as an assistant coach at the Dearborn-based Detroit College of Business, where Ryan is head coach.

Tied with Ryan after they both shot 72s, and holding a two-stroke lead over Morton on Saturday after the first-round of competition, Klimczak managed to come back and maintain his narrow margin as Ryan's game crumbled and Morton's putts refused to fall in the stretch. "He deserves to win," said Ryan, who was seeking his sixth overall tournament title during the past 10 years. "I just can't seem to put my game together. I was hoping to make a comeback with this tournament."

The 23-year-old Klimczak, who has competed in the city tournaments for the past six years, played steady and par golf the first day, coming up with three birdies in the first round. Nothing sensational or superlative on Sunday, Klimczak again repeated his efforts in the finals.

Although he carded four birdies on Sunday, Klimczak said that he felt he played better golf in the first round. "I hit the ball better on Saturday and it was an easier 72," said the medalist. "However, I really had to work for the 74 on Sunday." Morton stayed in the hunt right to the end. He said he couldn't overcome the leader's slim lead. "I was putting very good, but they just weren't falling," Morton added. "Craig did a good job. He didn't let the pressure get to him." Morton's demise apparently came on the final two holes, which he bogied. "You know, I played good, but Craig played better," Morton concluded.

Pressure however may have gotten Ben Robertson of Wayne, who also had a realistic shot at the title after turning in a five-over par 77 for the first day, but he finished with an agonizing 86 on Sunday and faded in the crowd. "I couldn't do anything right," moaned Robertson as he entered the clubhouse. "I thought I had a shot at it, but my game just didn't materialize."

Approximately 70 golfers showed up to compete in the two-day tournament which is co-sponsored by the parks and recreation departments of Wayne, Westland, Canton Township, Inkster and The Associated Newspapers. The top five golfers in each city are eligible to play in the 1994 Michigan Parks and Recreation state finals which will be staged Sept. 10 in Battle Creek.

Hawley, who has served as tournament manager for the past 25 meets, said that the 1994 tournament will go down as "one played in the best of conditions, but not for the record-books."

"There was nothing sensational or unusual at this one, as we had in some of the past meets," said Hawley. "But this one will go down as a tournament where patience paid off." Klimczak, Morton and Ryan also were awarded the first-place trophies for the cities (and township) they represented.

In the Women's Division, Brenda Walker won a five-stroke victory over Kathy Stellema to finish with medalist honors, while over in the Open Division, Romulus' Mark Kwek put together rounds of 79 and 83 for a two-day total of 162 for his first-place trophy. He also had a five-stroke victory over runner up Paul Niedermeyer, who finished with 167.

Mark Morton's return to the city of Wayne and the 35th annual City Championship Golf was a successful one on Sunday as he finished at the top of the field for Wayne. Morton (at right) also earned the Patrolman Len Anderson Memorial Trophy, presented to the top golfer in Wayne. The trophy is offered by the Wayne Police Department in memory of Anderson, the first Wayne officer to be slain in the line of duty. 'Pay-to-participate' continues to haunt athletics

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With voter approval of Proposal A, which was supposed to provide more funding to public schools, school officials were hoping to drive a stake into "Pay-to-Participate."

Proposal A did away with property taxes as the basis for funding Michigan schools, and on the other side of the equation, voters replaced the lost revenues with a 50-percent increase in the state sales tax - from 4 to 6 cents on every dollar.

The state also guaranteed schools a foundation grant of $6,500 per pupil, a hefty increase for many of the school districts across the state.

However, some districts continue to hurt financially and are asking parents for monies for extracurricular activities. The practice has become known as "Pay-to-play" or, since there are no assurances that the athlete will play, it is called "Pay-to-participate" by some districts and remains in effect in some of the area school districts as preps prepare for the 1994-95 school year.

The Wayne-Westland Community School District and the Plymouth Canton Community Schools, two of the largest school districts in the area, will ask their students to help defray the costs of sports again this year.

Members of the Wayne-Westland board of education have approved a resolution that will require students to pay $125 per sport, while in neighboring Plymouth, the students' participation fees will be $50.

Jack Hosmer, director of business affairs for the Van Buren School District, said on Monday that the students in that school district will not have to come up with a special fee to participate in extracurricular activities.

"A few years ago, because of a lack of funds, the school board asked our students to pay-to-play," Hosmer added. "But that was about six years ago. We have not had it since."

In the meantime, the summer is over for most prep athletes.

According to Michigan High School Athletic Association directives, football coaches may begin practice for the upcoming season starting today. However, practices will be without shoulder pads and physical contact until Aug. 15, when the gridders will get down to business to prepare for their openers.

For most area teams, the 1994 football season will begin on Sept. 2.

The Wayne-Westland schools are also board directive to organize soccer programs for the first time in their history for boys and girls.

"We are planning to implement a soccer program this spring for the girls and the following fall we will also have a boys' program in that sport," stressed Bill Hawley, athletic director at Wayne Memorial

High School. Hawley explained that about three-fourths of the Mega Conference schools have soccer programs and Wayne will be playing catchup.

"But I am confident that we will be competitive because we have kids in the area who are affiliated with traveling leagues and our schools will be able to utilize their prior knowledge of the sport."

They were closest to the pin

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although they were not in the hunt for medalist honors, Paul Niedermeyer and Bill Jetchick won't forget the 35th annual City Golf Championships staged over the weekend at Fellows Creek.

They came away with prizes, a set of golf clubs for their impressive efforts on the fifth hole.

Niedermeyer, a Romulus resident who is an educator, won a set of clubs for coming "Closest to the Pin" on Sunday. His shot on the 135-yarder fell 5 feet, 5 inches short of the pin.

On Saturday, the first day of the tournament and in his first appearance in the City Championships, computer programmer William Jetchick had the winning stroke when he bounced the ball within 7 feet, 9 inches of the pin.

The prizes were awarded to Niedermeyer and Jetchick by Bill Hawley, tournament director.

"Those were good shots in any tournaments," Hawley remarked.

The City Golf Championships are cosponsored by the parks and recreation departments of Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Inkster, Canton Township and The Associated Newspapers.

Continues...

Navy's best warrior tells all in Rogue Warrior II: Red Cell

His latest novel Rogue Warrior II: Red Cell may be fictional, but as readers are introduced to the hero of the book, they will be meeting the real-life author Richard Marcinko.

Red Cell picks up where Marcinko's 1992 autobiography Rogue Warrior left off. The first book depicted the self-destruction of Marcinko's colorful 30-year career in the Navy.

It explored Navy anti-terrorist tactics and his role as a special warfare commando and counter-terrorist. Despite the fact that there was no concrete evidence against him, the book ends with Marcinko going to federal prison in 1990 on one count of conspiracy.

In Red Cell, Marcinko tells all in a down-and-dirty story of clandestine military operations and treachery in the highest quarters. Cloaked in fiction, Marcinko can tell the tales and disclose the secrets that he couldn't before.

"This book took about eight months to complete," Marcinko said. "I've already have a rough draft of Rogue Warrior III in the works as well as options for movies on the first two."

What inspired this former Navy seal to write his life story Rogue Warrior which is a best seller? He said he needed money to pay off lawyers.

"Seriously, when government turned my case over to the justice department and took me to court, my ex-wife wouldn't let me have equity in the house to pay the lawyers," Marcinko said. "She said if I was in prison it would be the first time in 33 years she'd know where I was."

"So, I had to sell my ass or my story and nobody wanted my ass."

Marcinko said if the government had not pursued him with such vengeance, they would have retired him to "some funky job pushing papers."

"This-my books, my own company, Special Operations Security-are much, much better," Marcinko said.

Red Cell begins with the highly decorated retired Navy SEAL commander sneaking around the Tokyo Narita Airport planting bogus bombs and testing the security at the facility.

In real life, Marcinko is a go-getter who doesn't stop to rest. He said he does a lot of security analysis for major corporations overseas, identifying risks, naming the bad guys and creating escape and evasion plans.

"I was recently in Pakistan for a foreign oil company whose vice president got kidnapped," Marcinko said. "I went in and made him secure and also secured their remote drilling site. I also teach SWAT tactics to police officers in an interdisciplinary course."

"Last fall I stole a 747 and secured the control tower in an airport outside metropolitan Detroit, and my SWAT team had to come in and take it back."

Not only do the students attain SWAT training, but they also receive instruction on airport management and hostage negotiating, according to Marcinko.

"In fact, a lot of stuff in Rogue Warrior II is directly taken from my work," Marcinko said. "I did do a security-hardening job in Narita Airport in Tokyo, for instance. It's a circle jerk: while I'm servicing a customer, I'm also collecting data for my books."

Marcinko teamed up with writer John Weissman to create Red Cell. Weissman's recent books include Blood Cries and Shadow Warrior.

"John and I have a great working relationship," Marcinko said. "I can start a sentence, and he can finish it. We see each other physically about twice a week-he lives near me in Virginia."

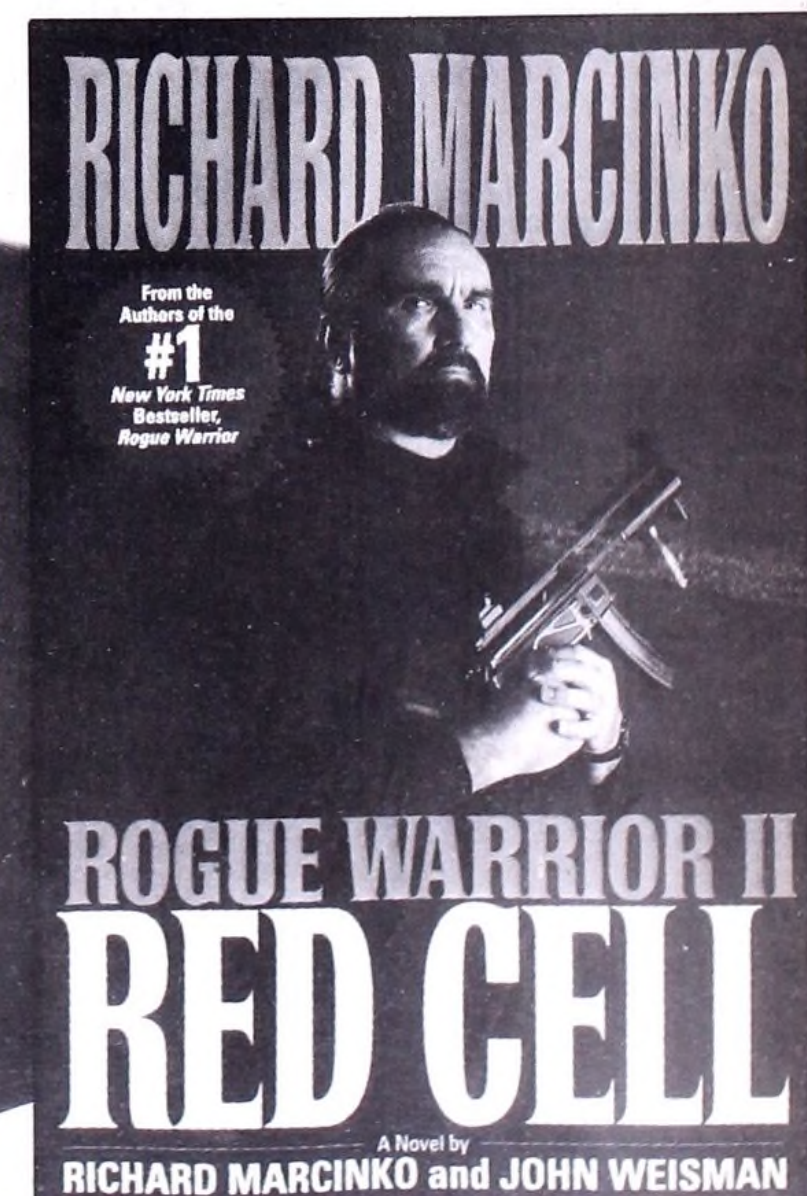

"We share ideas over lunch. We try to keep everything realistic but just this side of releasing actual classified information. We've also had great luck with our editor, Paul McCarthy."

Besides movie options, books and teaching, Marcinko's latest role involves "pumping up" Fortune 500 management teams.

"A Fortune 500 company will bring me in to pump up a small management team, not strangers to each other, but individuals who tend to hold back some of their marbles from the group for their own job security," Marcinko said. "They're a bunch of dweebs that have never been outside before, and I take them out of their environment and give them my own special brand of Outward Bound."

"It's successful because they form team spirit by ally-ing against me- the 'get Marcinko' tactic, and it really bonds people. I'm easy to hate."

Rogue Warrior II: Red Cell is now available at all book stores for $22.

15th annual Renaissance Festival to begin

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

"Dare to dream" is the theme of the 15th annual Renaissance Festival which opens this weekend in the kingdom of Hollygrove. Special events and activities will appeal to the "spirit of childhood" during the opening weekend. The festival offers 16th century merriment in a unique village atmosphere where entertainment abounds on eight stages and more than 140 craft shops offer everything from pottery to blown glass, weaving to wood-working and herbs to jewelry. Special children's events on the opening weekend are parades, contests, games knight-ing ceremonies, story telling and a petting zoo. Daily perfor-mances of Aladdin and Beauty and the Beast will highlight the

Childhood Quest weekend, and youngsters, 7 to 12, can compete in the annual LEGO/ Kmart Castle Building Contest on Saturday and Sunday. Next weekend, Renaissance Romance is the theme and Cupid will visit the kingdom of Hollygrove, where King Ed-ward and Queen Kathryn will preside over a royal wedding with festival-goers as special guests. Other events during the seven weekend series are:

- Festa Italia, Aug. 27-28, featuring grape stomping and food from Italy.
- Peasant Olympics, Sept. 3, 4 and 5, highlighted by Renais-sance-style games such as Tote-a-Bloke, Press-a-Wench and mystery food eating.
- Music and Dance, Sept. 10-11, featuring minstrels and troubadours in a weekend of song and dance.
- Highland Fling, Sept. 17-18, capturing the charms of Scotland with the masters caber toss championships and Highland dance competitions.
- Country Wine Affair, Sept. 24-25, featuring Hollygrove wines and whining contests.

The Michigan Renaissance Festival is located one mile north of Mt. Holly, Inc. on Dixie Highway, between Pon-tiac and Flint. Admission is $11.95 at the gate or $10.50 in advance for adults and $5.95 at the gate and $5 in advance for children, 5-12. Admission for children younger than 5 is free. The event is open from 10 am. to 7 p.m., rain or shine, and park-ing is free.

Zilka marriage vows blessed in Romulus

U.S. Army Specialist E-4 Jeffrey A. Zilka of Romulus and his wife, Marija Galic of Croatia had their marriage vows blessed recently by Father Michael Malaway of St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus.

Zilka graduated from Romulus High School in 1990 and enlisted in the U.S. Army in September of that year. He completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C. in November 1990 and then attended and graduated from Light Wheel Vehicle Mechanic School.

He was sent to join the "Desert Storm" forces in Saudi Arabia in March 1991 and served as a mechanic. In July of 1991 he was transferred to Munster in Germany, where he is still stationed.

While in Munster, he met his future wife. He later married her before a justice of the peace in Sonderburg, Denmark on March 12, 1993. His wife currently is studying nursing at the Holy Ghost Catholic Hospital.

He and his wife recently came home to Romulus for a brief stay. The family conducted a reception for the couple at the Holiday Inn Crowne Plaza in Romulus. Among those in attendance were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Zilka of Romulus; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Zilka and Mr. and Mrs. Don Taylor, all of Romulus, and his great-grandfather, Ed Taylor of Detroit.

The bride's parents, Tri-pimir and Ljiljanka Galic, residents of Darmstadt, Germany, were unable to attend.

The pair left Detroit Metropolitan Airport for Germany on Aug. 2. Zilka has signed on for another four years with the Army and is currently studying small business management.

Upon his discharge in four years, Zilka said he plans to work or manage a trucking or landscaping business.

The cold facts

Summer brings ice-cream smiles

It's the stuff that sweet temptation is made of.

Ice cream lovers of all ages recently celebrated National Ice Cream Month as declared by the U.S. Congress. The cold, delicious dessert has appealed to children and adults of all ages for years.

The Associated Newspapers last week conducted their own survey of the favorite flavors at the local dairy huts, and the result was not surprising. The majority of ice cream lovers still favor chocolate and vanilla above all the hundreds of selections including strawberry twist, chocolate white mousse and peanut butter delight.

Most people don't need an excuse to eat ice cream. In fact, at least 98 percent of households in the U.S. consume ice cream, and the average American downs 24 quarts of the cold, creamy stuff in a year's time, according to officials from Dreyer's and Ed's Grand Ice Cream Inc. in Oakland, Calif.

Ice cream was so popular during World War II that in 1945 the Navy commissioned the world's first "floating ice cream parlor." Built at a cost of more than $1 million, the parlor, a concrete barge, produced 10 gallons of ice cream every seven seconds, according to the Great American Ice Cream Book by Paul Dickson.

In the "good old days" the ice cream server was called a "jerk" and there was parlor lingo which consisted of the following: mud-chocolate ice cream; patch-strawberry ice cream; M.D.-Dr. Pepper; nervous pudding-jello; split one-banana split; cow juice-milk; city juice-water; and white cow-vanilla milk shake.

Upcoming national dessert celebrations include Sept. 22 which is the birth of the ice cream cone, October is National Dessert Month and Oct. 14 is National Dessert Day.
